

2015 Snapshot of Canada's Community Foundation Movement

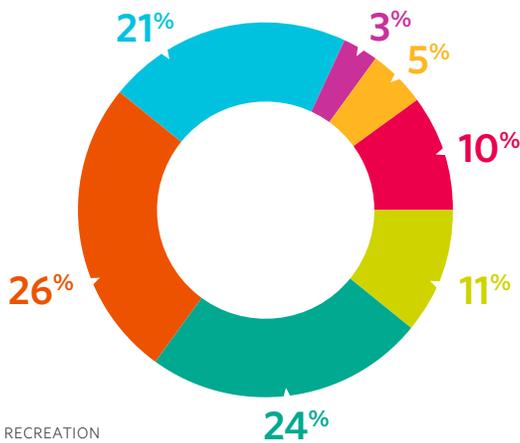

Canada's 191 community foundations are part of a national network working across sectors to help Canadians invest in building strong and resilient communities.

Our movement has grown dramatically over the past 25 years and today more than 90% of Canadian communities have access to a community foundation.

These facts and figures collected in 2015 from community foundations provide an overview of the rich diversity and collective impact of our network.
